

Contents

List of Graphs	x
List of Maps	xii
List of Tables	xii
List of Figures	xiii
Acknowledgements	xiv
Foreword	xvi
 I. PROLOGUE: BRUNEI VERSUS BORNEO	 1
1. An Apparently Unfavourable Geography	3
2. The Best Port in West Borneo	5
3. A Relatively Strategic Site	11
 II. FROM THALASSOCRACY TO RENTIER STATE	 13
1. Introduction: Sources and Methodology	15
A. Premises and Emergence of the Bruneian Thalassocracy	21
1. First Settlements and End of the Ice Age (40,000 BCE–600 CE)	21
2. Brunei from Srivijaya to the Ming Dynasty (7th–15th centuries)	29
3. The Golden Age of Brunei (1500–78)	50
B. New Commercial Routes and Internal Rivalries         (1600–1905)	61
1. The Dutch Card and Its Failure	61
2. The Double Gap in the 18th Century	69
3. Playing the British Card and Its Avatars (1803–1905)	75

C. From Residency to Independence (1906–84)	93
1. Establishment of “Modern” Government and Administration (1906–41)	94
2. The Japanese Interlude and the End of the Residency (1942–59)	104
3. From Internal Autonomy to Independence (1984)	115
 III. INDEPENDENCE AND AFTER, 1984–2014	129
 A. Political Independence	131
1. Well-tempered Modernisation, 1984–89	132
2. Full Steam Ahead! (1989–99)	140
3. Running Before the Wind and Tacking (2000–14)	152
B. From Hydrocarbon Rent to Financial Rent	165
1. Absolute Dominance of Hydrocarbons	166
2. Structural Trade Surplus	179
3. Successful Regional Integration	183
C. Evaluating the Bruneian Model	187
1. Internal and External Surpluses	188
2. From Surplus to Assets	191
3. An Unusual Model	195
 IV. ADAT ISTIADAT AND SOCIETAL MANAGEMENT	201
1. Seeking the Brunei Paradigm	203
A. Orang Melayu, Orang Brunei?	205
1. Demographic Expansion	205
2. Education as a Recent Phenomenon	220
3. Malays = Civil Servants	231
B. Adat Istiadat	235
1. Evolution of Royal Custom	236
2. Opening Up of the Hierarchy (1958–2014)	249
3. Tradition as an Instrument for Managing Society	258

C. Melayu Islam Beraja	261
1. The Making of History in the Service of Power	262
2. Power at the Service of Religion—And Vice-versa	269
3. State Ideology—But with Rule of Law	275
 CONCLUSION: DURABLE CONSENSUS?	283
 APPENDICES	289
1. Weights, Measures and Currency	291
2. Lexicon	293
3. Thematic Bibliography	303
 Index	331